FASHION AND BEAUTY IN JEWELRY

is to be found in design and colour irrespective of mere cost.

Jewelry has long ceased to be a symbol of wealth; it is now recognised by even the most modest followers of fashion as a necessity, and a necessity which must synchronise with the progress of fashion in dress. To be fashionably dressed it is indispensible to be fashionably Jewelled.

The DISTINCTIVE FEATURE in the JEWELRY of this season is the ROUND FLAT PENDANT or the worn with the new demi-sautoir Necklet and which is made up in either gold or platinum or in combination. Originally this was a costly conceit, with a foundation of enamel in which was a design, usually of Empire character, in close set diamonds, but the present season is offering the daintiest of these ornaments, which carry the finest gold or platinum trellis work or bars as the base, and lightly and delicately touched with gems.

The INTERCHANGEABLE idea of some of these PLAQUES mounted with Diamonds, is, that they are made with four coloured discs, which can be attached to the back of the ornament and can be exchanged very easily at the desire of the wearer. These are now largely in use, for they begin at a moderate price and are so new and so charming that they are irresistible. Irresistible to every lady of fashion who rejoices in the possession of new trinkets, no matter how well stocked her jewel case may be.

For the LATEST DESIGNS and for UP-TO-DATE JEWELRY inspect the UNPARALELLED STOCK at

WORLD-FAMED
GUTTÆ VITÆ
Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This extraordinary rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency of the Vital Forces, owing to dissipation, worry, overwork, excesses, or an other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impurity and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study, or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, haunting dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-abuse or excesses that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s. or four times that quantity, 33s. per Bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness of the loins, Scanty or other Deposits, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. Price 1s. 9d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA PILLS, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful ailments. The first dose gives relief, and in all cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 1s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless preparations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. De Roos, on the secret causes of Nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. LAWRENCE, Medical Publisher, 1 Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. De Roos' Medicines.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The reading of the barometer at the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32° F. and for Calcutta standard at 8 a.m. (local time) on the 10th January was 29·992 inches. The height of Observatory barometer cistern above zero of the tide gauge at Apollo Bunder is 47 feet. The height of tide in the stream above zero of the tide gauge was 12 feet at 8 a.m. (local time). The temperature correction for a mercurial barometer, supposing the reading to be 30·00 inches and that of the attached thermometer 80° F. will be ·14 inch and this will be higher and lower by ·01 inch for each 4 degrees. In the case of the aneroid no temperature correction is required. Should the height of barometer cistern, either mercurial or aneroid above zero of tide guage be different from 47 feet, it will read higher or lower by ·01 inch for each 11 feet. The readings above are distinct in from those given in the daily weather report, to which different corrections have been applied.

INDIAN CROP PROSPECTS.

PUNJAB SESAMUM.

The final forecast of the sesamum crop of the Punjab for the year 1910.

(Twenty-two districts are dealt with.)

On an average of five years ending 1908-09, the area under sesamum in the Punjab has represented some 2·4 per cent. of the total area under sesamum in British India.

The total area under resamum in 1910 amounts to 152,500 acres, this comparing with 175,600 acres last year and a quinquennial average of 129,720 acres. Sowings were fully up to the average, conditions being generally favourable. The principal decreases on last year are 47 per cent in Ferozepore and Mianwali, 39 per cent. in Lahore, 25 per cent. in Hoshiarpur, and 21 per cent. in Gujranwala.

The gross outturn this year is 302,117 cwts., this being 18 per cent. less than last year, but 12 per cent. above the quinquennial average. Outturns have ranged from average to slightly below average.

CENTRAL PROVINCES LINSEED.

The first forecast of the linseed crop of the Central Provinces and Berar—Season 1910-11 (relating to the period ending 13th November 1910.) Note—On an average of the five years ending 1908-09, the area under linseed in the Central Provinces and Berar has represented some 2·50 per cent and 3·10 per cent respectively, of the total area under the crop in British India.

Sowings began at the normal time (between 1st and 22nd October) throughout the Provinces except in Narsinghpur and Hoshangabad where they started late (about 5th November).

In all districts in which linseed is of importance a fairly substantial increase in the area is anticipated owing to favourable conditions at sowing time. The total area (1,019,000 acres) shows a net increase of 10 per cent as compared with that (926,000 acres) of last year. Germination was generally good and practically no re-sowings were necessary. Prospects are at present generally good everywhere.

CENTRAL PROVINCES WHEAT.

The first forecast of the wheat crop of the Central Provinces and Berar—Season 1910-11 (relating to the period ending 1st December, 1910.) Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1908-09, the area under wheat in the Central Provinces and Berar has represented some 10·40 per cent and 1·40 per cent. respectively, of the total area under the crop in British India. The ratio of the irrigated to the total wheat area (a) in British India, (b) in the Central Provinces and (c) in Berar, has in the five years ending 1908-09, average (a) 39·00 per cent. (b) 1·20 per cent, (c) 2·30 per cent. respectively.

Sowings commenced early (and October) in Mandla, late (1st November) in Narsingpur, Hoshangabad and Drug and at the normal time (between 10th and 25th October) in the remaining districts.

In the beginning of the monsoon continuous and heavy rainfall throughout the Provinces and subsequently timely showers in the first fortnight of October left sufficient moisture in the ground. A most opportune rain was also received in the middle of November. Sowings were generally successful and germination

"TWENTY-ONE DAYS IN INDIA."

THE remarkable series of sketches issued in volume form, with the above title, has been out of print for years past, for the author has long ago gone to his reward. But this week, through Messrs. Thacker, Spink and Co., a new edition makes its appearance, with new illustrations and elucidations, which will be welcomed not only by those, who remember India, as the author, Mr. Aberigh-Mackay, knew it, but by those who are partial to sketches of life in this country to-day. The publishers have considered it advisable to reproduce, verbatim, only the "Twenty-one Days," as originally published in Vanity Fair, the additional six, included in several editions of the book issued after the author's death, being omitted. Instead of these, by permission of the proprietors of this journal, a number of the sketches contributed to the Bombay Gazette in 1880 by Mr. Aberigh-Mackay over the pseudonym of "Our Political Orphan," have been substituted. In carrying out the work of revision, many passages, previously omitted have been restored to the text and a new series of illustrations has been prepared by Mr. George Darley of Calcutta, who has succeeded in a marked degree in embodying in his sketches the spirit of the author's subjects. He has merely brought them up to-date in costume, their souls and their bodies too are the same as when Mr. Mackay first depicted them, as, sitting in his chair as Principal of the Rajkumar College at Indore, he saw them pass. The chapter of Elucidations may appear necessary, after this lapse of time, for those who would discover precisely at what and whose idiosyncracy the writer was "poking fun" but without this they stand as they are, life-like and unexaggerated, as true to-day as they were when written, and as applicable to ourselves and those around us as to those who preceded us thirty years ago. We are told, apologetically, that "Ali Baba"—the name over which Mr. Mackay wrote for Vanity Fair—did not intend to characterise the whole of Lord Lytton's verse as "a flood of twaddle," for as a matter of fact his acquaintance with the then Viceroy's muse was mainly, if not entirely, based upon a volume, edited by Mr. N. A. Chick of Calcutta in 1877, "The Imperial Bouquet of Pretty Flowers from the Poetical Parterre of Robert Lord Lytton, Viceroy and Governor-General of India"—a title which of itself would have damned Shakespeare's sonnets.

"With the Viceroy" is the first of his irreverent sketches. If it had pleased Providence to make Mr. Mackay a German, to write of the Kaiser instead of the Governor-General, he would assuredly have been arraigned for lese majeste. He found it certainly a little intoxicating to spend a day with the "Great Ornamental," for he did not see much of him perhaps. "But he is a presence to be felt, something floating loosely about in wide spicine pantaloons and flying skirts, diffusing, as he passes, the fragrance of smile and pleasantry and cigarette. The air around him is laden with honeyed murmurs; gracious whispers play about the twitching, bewitching corners of his delicious mouth. He calls everything by soft names in many a museé rhyme. Deficits, Public Works and Cotton Duties are transmitted by the alchemy of his gaiety into sunshine and song. An office-box on his writing-table an office box is to him and it is something more: it holds cigarettes. No one knows what sweet thoughts are his as Chloe flutters through the room, blushful and startled or as a fresh beaker of the warm South glows between his amorous eyes and the sun." Lord William Beresford was the A. D. C.-in-waiting, who was described as having a motherly whisper for secretaries and Members of Council, whose way with ladies was sisterly—undemonstratively affectionate, who towed up rajas to H. E. and stood in the offing, whose attitude towards rajas was one of the melancholy reserve, for whom he would perform the prescribed observances, if he could not approve of them. "For a brother in aiguilettes there is a Masonic smile and a half embarrassed familiarity as if found out in acting his part. But confidence is soon restored with melancholy glances around and profane persons, who may be standing about, more uneasily away." An A. D. C., we are told, should have no tastes. He is merged in "the house." He "must dance and ride admirably, he ought to shoot; he may sing and paint in water-colours, or botanise a little and the faintest aroma of the most volatile literature will do him no harm: but he cannot be allowed preferences." When in plain clothes A. D. C's. were known and lay long odds at whist and "to qualify very nearly, for a co-respondentship." Let it be borne in mind that "Ali Baba" was referring to A. D. C's. to the Viceroy, and that was over thirty years ago.

A Commander-in-Chief, Ali Baba considered to be the most beautiful article of social upholstery in India, who sits in a large chair in a drawing-room, takes the oldest woman in to dinner and gratifies her with his cackle. He rejoins the ladies after dinner and leers kindly on a pretty woman—who forgives herself a month of indiscretions. An Archdeacon is described as one of the busiest men in India and especially when he is up on the hill among the sweet pine trees. "He is both of Heaven and Earth. When we see him in the pulpit we are pleased to think that we are with the angels; when we meet him in a ball-room we are flattered to feel that the angels are with us. When he is with us—though, of course, he is not of us—he is exceedingly like us." The Secretary to Government is clever, and being clever he has to be rather morose in manner and careless in dress, or people might forget that he is clever—"an object of wonder to his contemporaries, of admiration to the Lieutenant-Governor and of desire to several Burra Memsahibs with daughters." To the Bengali Babu may seem a far cry to the million, but Ali Baba, lets H. E. the Bengali Babu follow the Secretary, remarking that the asciblan that got itself evolved into Bengali Baboos must have seized the first moment of consciousness and thought to reject the step it had taken, for, however much we may desire to diffuse Babuism over the Empire, we must all agree that the Babu itself is an object for tears. Then the Raja emerges from the palace, riding on a prodigiously fat white horse with pink points and proceeds to the place of carousal. And next we have a portrait of the most curious product of the Indian bureaucracy, "the Political Agent than whom nothing in all White Babudom is more wonderful. The Collector, a bustling man, always in a hurry, follows—a man whose wife is entitled to give herself airs." The Red Chupprasi, or "the corrupt lictor" next appears on the scrasn—as the Colorada beetle, the potato disease, the Home Ruler, the skeleton in the cupboard, the little rift in the lute in India, and it is recalled that the late Mr. Whitley Stokes once jocularly proposed legislating against chuprassies, his plan being to include them among the criminal classes and hand them over to the Director-General of Thuggee and Dacoity. The planter, the Eurasian, the villager, the old Colonel, the Civil Surgeon, the shikari, the grass-widow, who is never caught tripping, though in conversation with men she nibbles at the forbidden apples of thought. Others too, almost everyone of us, has felt the lash of Ali Baba's whip, but it is no use fitting on caps which were not intended for us, though they may have belonged to our fathers. Every reader of "Twenty-one Days" may truthfully exclaim "that might have been meant for so and so," and so it might, for "Ali Baba" spared none of those around him and there is as much human nature in man to-day so there was thirty odd years ago. But perhaps as we read him, and recognise our foibles, his holding up of the mirror to nature may make us wiser men—and women.

TWO BOMBAY FOOTWAYS. A GOOD deal of the time of the Corporation on Monday, was occupied in the consideration of matters relating to public footways, which the local railways propose to have closed. We may say at once that we sincerely sympathise with the attitude, which the Corporation adopted in their demand that the companies should not be permitted to disturb the public convenience by closing foot-paths without providing foot-bridges or similar accommodation. We hope the Corporation will always as jealously guard the privileges of the citizens in such matters. It does not always matter whether the footway in dispute is largely used or not. That consideration does not necessarily affect the importance of resisting an attempt to close it. This point of view is particularly applicable to the Chowpatti crossing, which of the two footways concerned occupied the larger share of the Corporation's attention on Monday. Government, who have taken up the view of the Railway Company in this matter, have argued that a bridge or crossing is unnecessary being used only by the inhabitants of a small portion of the city, and that there is ample accommodation for crossing the railway in the neighbourhood. Even if this argument were sound, it would not necessarily be a reason why the Corporation should abandon its attitude, for public authorities should be very careful about permitting precedents in the matter of closing crossings and foot-paths. No Railway Company is ever reluctant to take advantage of any precedent, however slightly relevant, when it is seeking to close a public path without the expense of providing an adequate substitute. However, to return to the Government argument, in the first place we cannot agree that the Chowpatti level-crossing is required only by a very limited section of the population. It is used by people from all parts of the city, Europeans and Indians alike, as being the most convenient means of passing between the sea-front at Chowpatti and Queen's Road. Secondly, we think the Corporation would be guilty of a very dangerous admission were it to acknowledge that the building of a foot-bridge at Charni Road, nearly half a mile away, renders unnecessary the existence of a crossing or bridge at Chaupatti. We hope the Corporation will persistently and successfully assert its demand that the Railway Companies should not be allowed to close the two path-ways in question without providing the public with their equivalent.

VACCINATION OF HAJIS. WE are pleased to see that Government have acknowledged, in a spirit of praise, the admirable efforts which have been put forward by the Commissioner of Police and some of his assistants towards securing that very necessary measure, the vaccination or re-vaccination of Hajis before their departure from India. A great deal of prejudice against the operation has been displayed by the pilgrims themselves, and the Commissioner in his report on the subject is thoroughly justified in saying that in view of the fact that this is the first year in which any organised attempt has been made to introduce vaccination among Hajis, the result that 8,278 pilgrims or nearly half the number, who came to the city were vaccinated in Bombay, is very encouraging. Vaccination amongst the Hajis was not, however, confined to those on whom the operation was performed in this city. The Government of India, acting upon the request of the Bombay Government—sent a circular letter asking for co-operation in this matter to other local and provincial authorities. This had an excellent effect, and in consequence considerable numbers of pilgrims from the United Provinces, the Punjab, Hyderabad, and Bhopal were vaccinated before they reached Bombay. These have not been included in the figure which we quoted above. Especially, says the Commissioner, are the thanks of Bombay due to the Governments of Hyderabad and Bhopal, out of which territories scarcely a single pilgrim was allowed to pass unvaccinated, and altogether the number of pilgrims who left Bombay, having been inoculated, was considerably more than half of those who joined the Haj at this port. As Government points out, while commendable effort has been made, the actual value of the work can only be judged by the state of health amongst the pilgrims on their return. We have no doubt that this will show an improvement, although possibly it may be small at first. But as time goes on and the Hajis become more accustomed to vaccination, and accept it more readily and in larger numbers, it must materially reduce the amount of small-pox infection, which is imported into this city by sea.

THE MACAO MUTINY. THE China Mail brings, from a Peking correspondent, details of the rebellion, in Macao, of which Reuter wired a month ago. The Government at Lisbon has honoured the promise of the late Governor to exempt rebels from punishment "having regard to good intention" underlying the breach of discipline, but the telegram impresses upon the men that any further demonstration of the kind will be treated as a protest against the Republic and be dealt with as treason. Civilians instigating or inciting a disturbance of public order are also warned. It is not clear whether the telegram accords a pardon to the civilian concerned in the recent affair, and the wish is probably father to the thought in many minds, that it does not, for it is commonly said that the "revolt" had a civilian origin. Strangely enough, the acting Governor has suspended publication of the Republican journal "Verdade," which has led the men in the anti-clerical campaign. With the banishment of the Franciscan Sisters, female education has come to an end in Macao. So too has much charitable work among orphans and the indigent poor. In the convent of Santo Antonio, it seems, the Sisters cared for upwards of six hundred of them, and the consequences of the abandonment of this work may be imagined. Only five, of the thirty Sisters who carried on this work, remain in the Colony, and the troops who now perceive the folly of their adventure would gladly welcome the return of these devoted women. But the governing authorities of the Order at home are at present opposed to their return to Macao, though the acting Governor is doing his best to bring order out of the present chaos in the Colony.

COMMENTING on the appointment of Sir A. McMahon, the "Pioneer" writes: The selection of an officer outside the Civil Service for the Foreign Secretaryship is not without precedent, though one must go back to the time of the elder Durand to find it. Sir A. Henry McMahon has, however, quite exceptional experience in the Political Department and his service since he accompanied the mission to Kabul during Lord Lansdowne's Viceroyalty has given him expert knowledge which is probably unrivalled. He carried out the extensive demarcation of the North-West Frontier under the terms of the Durand Treaty, and as head of the Seistan Delimitation Commission he gained complete success in face of extraordinary difficulties. During the present Amir's visit to India, Sir Henry McMahon still further confirmed the opinion formed of his ability as a Political Officer, and the personal esteem in which he is held by Habibullah is an important asset which cannot be ignored when relations with the Kabul Durbar have to be considered. He has been in charge of the Baluchistan Agency for six years, and though that part of the frontier has declined in political importance, its peaceful administration for so long a period must have been the cause of high satisfaction to the Government of India. The public which has foreseen the likelihood of the appointment from the first in spite of Sir Henry McMahon's uniform, would not have formed that anticipation unless it had been generally felt that he had outstanding qualifications for the place.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

BUSY BOXERS.

(FROM OUR SPORTING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, DEC. 23.

FOLLOWERS of boxing have had much to claim their attention during the last few days. The annual benefit to Mr. A. F. Bettinson, manager of the National Sporting Club, attracted a notable gathering to the famous Covent Garden establishment on Monday, which testified to the popularity of the good sportsman named. As many old timers may recall, Mr. Bettinson was an amateur champion boxer, and also at the top of the tree as a swimmer, when many of the present day cracks were in long clothes. He knows the game from A. to Z. and that boxers of all classes respect him highly, was shown by the manner they came forward to spar at the affair under notice. The cracks included Bomb. Wells, Young Josephs, Spike Robson, Digger Stanley, and Joe Bowker among professionals, while the amateur world was represented by J. W. H. T. Douglas, R. C. Warner, T. Tees, R. J. Bomberger, and H. Holmes. It may be added that the pros met the amateurs in the order given, and this makes one wonder why amateurs and pros are not allowed to meet in all sports.

CONTESTS.

The contests, on Monday, included one between G. Cohen and S. Adler, two members of the promoting club, who put lots of feeling into their efforts to win the gold cup at stake. Adler looked a winner when eight rounds were over, but Cohen "slipped himself" in the next round and made up a lot of lost ground, but as Adler held his own in the next, and last round, most people were surprised when the referee declared Cohen the winner.

A COMING MAN.

The meeting between Bill Chase of London and Pte. Voyles was eagerly awaited by those who remembered how the former recently won a heavy weight contest for novices at the National Sporting Club, and subsequently disposed of Pte. Smith, light-heavy-weight champion of the Army and Navy, in a couple of rounds. Voyles got home at the start, but Chase went after his man and the bout had only been in progress for just over two minutes when he sent the right to the jaw with great power. Voyles fell to the boards on his face in a manner which denoted "out" to those who understand the game, and sure enough he was unable to rise inside the ten seconds. Voyles was trying to side-step out of his rival's corner when he laid himself open, and apparently forgot what a long reach Chase has.

THE WINNER.

Chase is a tall, well-built man, and carries no unnecessary flesh. He appears to be very cool, and certainly has the ability to hit very hard with either hand. As a boxer he naturally has a lot to learn, only having recently come out of the novice class, but he ought to have a big future. It would be much to his advantage if he could spend a couple of years in the United States, under the care of a good manager, such as Charley Harvey. The latter makes a feature of managing English champions, and his association with our feather, bantam and light weights has proved satisfactory all round. If he turned his attention to Chase, it might possibly prove equally satisfactory, for one of these days the old country will turn out another champion of the world.

WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK.

Wales possesses two worthy champions in Jem Driscoll and Fred Welsh, who hold championship honours in the feather and light weight class respectively. Several attempts were made to bring them together, and at last they agreed to box at 9st. 4lbs., the affair duly coming off at Cardiff last Tuesday. The amount at stake was £2,700, which is a record for Wales. Upwards of 10,000 people were present, but the end was not satisfactory. The bout lasted ten rounds, during which a lot of "roughing" was seen, the crowd particularly objecting to the tactics of Welsh. Driscoll apparently retaliated, and was cautioned for using his head in an unfair manner, and on repeating the offence, he was disqualified. It was a give and take contest, and neither could claim any advantage so far as it went, though Driscoll did best in the last two rounds. The loser appeared to be the favourite with the crowd, though so far as the betting was concerned, the odds were in favour of Welsh, his admirers betting 45 to 20 against Driscoll. There was a good deal of sympathy for the beaten man, and most people thought Welsh was just as much an offender as his rival.

BILLIARDS.

Inman gave another of his wonderful displays towards the end of the eighth heat of the Burroughes-Watts tournament. He was 700 points behind Harverson when play opened on the final day, and yet won by 778 points, mainly through a splendid break of 403.

Stevenson fared badly against Reece in their match wherein he tried to concede 2,250 points in 9,000 up. The champion actually lost ground on his rival, the Oldham man being more than his start to the good when the game ended.

Gray had no difficulty in conceding G. Duncan 2,000 points in 9,000 at Glasgow last week, his winning margin being 3,715. He did not make a four figure break during the match, but came along with efforts of 926 and 888, both on the same day, and ran out with an unfinished 710.

Diggle is now showing fine form against Stevenson in the ninth heat of the Burroughes-Watts tournament, a break of 412 yesterday putting him in a favourable position.

ROWING.

The Arnst v. Barry match in South Africa, led to home sportsmen again taking keen interest in professional sculling, a branch which has been dormant for some years. During the present week we saw a very fine struggle between Rough of Oxford, and Pocock of Eton over the Thames championship course. The former had to keep at full stretch all the way to beat his plucky rival by two lengths and the event is sure to arouse further interest in professional sculling and help place it on the footing it deserves. We can now look forward to the promised match between Barry and Albany, and after the fine form of the latter when he beat Arlett, he will be fancied to make a great showing.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The victory of England in last season's Rugby Championship of the United Kingdom, did a lot to increase the interest in the game, which is again flourishing strongly, in spite of the great popularity of Association. England is well off for good Rugby players just now, indeed the Selection Committee find their labours difficult on this account. What was virtually the champion team of England only narrowly beat the South two weeks ago, after being led by 8 points at one part of the game. Much the same thing happened in the second trial at Leeds, on Saturday, when the North were ten points to the good early in the second half. England then played up splendidly and eventually won by 23 points to 13.

The inability to get going at the start of the game is due to the players being strange to each other. As further changes have been made in the side to take part in the final trial England v. The Rest it is much to be feared we shall again see a scratch combination turn out against Wales in the first of the internationals.

It would certainly give home footballers satisfaction, if the Selection Committee selected an All-England team early in the season, and after three trial games, definitely selected the men to do duty in the internationals. Then, given opportunities to play together in half a dozen matches, the fifteen would take the field with some real knowledge of each other's ability.

The win of Cambridge University at Newport, on Saturday, was highly creditable to the Light Blues. They were six points behind at half time, but playing better as the game progressed, they manage to score a try in the last two seconds, which gave them the victory by 12 points to 11. The Oxford men have also been showing to advantage in Scotland, as demonstrated by the wins over Glasgow Acads and Edinboro Acads by 11 points to 0 and 26 points to 5 respectively.

ASSOCIATION.

The Aston Villa players had won nine League games in succession, when they turned out against Manchester United on Saturday. They recognised they had a hard task on hand and while the visitors were dashing at times, the honours went to the United, who won by 2 goals to 0. It is stated that the performance of the Villa in gaining nine consecutive victories constitutes a record in connection with the club, and although Saturday's reverse is a check, the champions are still at the head of the table (24 points for 16 games) as whilst Sunderland and Manchester United have gained the same number of points, the two clubs have played an extra game.

The leaders in the Second Division also failed on Saturday, this being a big surprise. Having got through 15 matches without having more than 5 goals scored against them, it was a shock to Clapton Orient to visit Bradford and lose by 3 goals to 0. Blackpool also lost at Fulham, and Chelsea had to put up with a draw at Barnsley, so that the Orient still enjoy the best record in the Division.

Aberdeen's prospects of winning the Scottish League Championship were improved on Saturday, as whilst the club beat (3-0) Heart of Midlothian, dangerous rivals in Glasgow Rangers and Clyde failed against St. Mirren and Dundee. This leaves Aberdeen a point in front of Third Lanark and that team has played an additional match.

IN GENERAL.

H. M. Bartlet and B. H. Hogan rode one mile in 2 min. 32 2-5 secs. on a tandem at Nerne Hill early in the week, which is a record from a stand and without pacing.

Mr. A. F. Bettinson, who was the referee for the Welsh-Driscoll match, says the latter did best in the last two rounds, and that if he could have kept it up a little longer, would probably have won.

Scotland and England met an ice-hockey match at Glasgow on Saturday, the home side winning by 8 goals to 3.

Chief of recent hockey matches were those in which Cheshire and Northumberland drew, and Yorkshire, defeated (4-0) Lancashire.

Mr. McIntosh opened the Olympic Annex as a boxing palace on Wednesday, when Bill Lang, Jack Burns, and Gunner Moir were among those who appeared.

The London League beat the Paris League by 5 goals to 0 in an Association match at Paris last Saturday.

An ice hockey match between Oxford and Cambridge at Muerrin yesterday ended in favour of Oxford by 5 goals to 3.

CONSTITUTIONALISM IN CHINA.

An Impeachment.

A PEKING telegram, dated the 12th Dec., states that the memorial of the National Assembly impeaching the Grand Councillors was passed on the 10th, and was to be submitted to the Throne on Monday last. Its wording was mainly to the following effect:—

The responsibilities of the Grand Councillors are not clearly defined, and it is of the utmost difficulty to expect them to be useful in rendering any assistance to the State. The Prince and the Ministers constituting this Council are afraid of being the last in receiving salaries and bounties, and of being the first in receiving scolds and blames. This is their first fault. They are supposed to participate in consultations and decisions on State Affairs, but only in name for they have rendered no real assistance to the Government in its administration. This is their second fault.

They view the discussions at the meeting of the Government Council as matters of form; they peruse the memorials and petitions as they read mere stories. The preservation of their pay and the keeping of their official positions occupy their mind; indifferent to public good, but attentive to self-interest they have caused our Prince Regent to grieve, to labour, to lament, and to sigh on high (i. e. the Throne); they have subjected our subjects to illness, misery, poverty and pain below. We will hope that the sage mind of Your Highness will decide singly (on this matter), will reiterate the Decree of the 3rd day of 10th moon, (November 4, 1910,) and clearly order the Grand Councillors that before the existence of a responsible Cabinet, they must admit their responsibility, so as to prevent them from making excuses and shifting their burden. Thus, we may hope to cleanse the foundation of our administration and to wake up all other officials.

THE KING'S VISIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—At last the much longed for visit of our 'Sailor King' His Most Gracious Majesty King George for his Coronation is finally settled, and India is anxiously and joyously awaiting this great occasion to celebrate it in a way never before known in the annals of its history. To keep this event strongly impressed in the loyal Indian minds and to render it always remembered as remarkably as possible I would suggest a simple yet in himself a noble idea which if followed would greatly attract and be appreciated by the Royal family on their arrival in Bombay. Stands, each four to five hundred yards apart, should be erected on all the roads through which the procession is to pass and students—boys and girls, graduates and undergraduates—should be provided with seats in every alternate stand, the intermediate, reserved for the general public, who all shall join in the "National Anthem" as the carriage containing their Majesties the King and Queen are about a hundred yards from each stand, and this band of the "National Anthem" shall uphold the Indians and more especially the Bombayites in the minds of their Majesties as a very patriotic nation.—Yours, etc.,

DISCOVERY OF RELICS.

Reminiscence of Hindu Power.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 10.

An interesting discovery of relics of an ancient Hindu Raj was lately made in the village of Sitahati in the sub-division of the Kutwah District, Burdwan, and not only was the hidden treasure unearthed eventually in the course of excavation, but, also, portions of a palace were traced here and there. There is a plot of land in the village about ten acres in area, belonging to the estate of Babu Baidyanath Chatterjee. This land was never cultivated, but two months ago the Zemindar wanted to bring it under cultivation and employed labourers to reclaim it. While the excavation work was in progress, numerous articles, such as silver and copper plates, were found under the debris.

In the course of further digging, a gold plate weighing about 13 seers was discovered. It is inscribed with images of two Hindu gods and contains some writing to the effect that Nairaja had laid the foundation of the palace there. The local authorities, having heard of this interesting discovery, deputed police officers to superintend the work of the labourers. After further digging, some pillars, of an ancient pattern, were discovered, and it is believed that a large building exists beneath the soil. The Zemindar, however, has stopped further excavation. It appears that on the site of the present villages of Keogandi, Sitahati and Naihati there once existed a populous town and ample evidence of this has been forthcoming from the fact that the whole District composed of these and other villages, contains the remains of dilapidated buildings underground, and whenever a tank or a well has to be excavated, bricks, rubbish and the foundations of old walls are discovered.

IMPORT DUTY ON PIECE-GOODS.

How to Assess Ten.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 10.

The Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce addressed the following letter to the Commerce and Industry Department:—

1. I am directed by the Committee of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to address you with reference to fixing of price upon which import duty is levied in case of piece-goods and sundry articles of merchandise.

2. The Committee are aware that there has been correspondence between your Department and the Madras Chamber upon this question. They have had the benefit of perusing the papers submitted to you in this connection by the Madras Chamber.

3. The question to which I am to invite your attention has reference to Section 30 (a) of the Sea Customs Act 8 of 1878. The section is as follows:—

20. For the purposes of this Act the real value shall be deemed to be (a) The wholesale cash price (less trade discount) for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold or are capable of being sold at the time and place of importation or exportation as the case may be without any abatement or deduction whatever except (in the case of goods imported) of the amount of the duties payable on the importation thereof, or (b) where such price is not ascertainable the cost at which goods of the like kind and quality could be delivered at such place without any abatement or deduction except as aforesaid."

It is understood that the expression wholesale cash price referred to in the above section has been defined by the Government as meaning the local wholesale market value, that is to say the price at which a retail dealer can buy from a wholesale seller, a wholesale quantity of the particular goods imported. For the purpose of ascertaining such price the Committee believe that in the case of piece-goods the Customs authorities take the price at which one entire package can be purchased in the local bazar. The system had been in force for many years during which it has frequently given rise to disagreement between importers and Collectors of Customs.

For the importers rightly, as the Committee consider claims to be entitled to pay duty upon the price for which goods of the like kind and quality are sold or are capable of being sold at the time and place of importation, i.e. the landing stage and not on the wholesale market price. For the latter is an enhanced price rendered so by the addition of various charges to the importers price viz interest, landing and removal charges, dealers' profits and so forth, which are not considered to be dutiable. In other words the price of goods at the time and place of importation is undoubtedly less than the wholesale market price by the sum of the charges levied upon them from the place of importation to the local bazar. It does not appear to the Committee that any argument is needed to demonstrate the truth of these propositions which are indeed self-evident.

4. The Committee do not desire that any charge should be made in the procedure which is followed for the ascertainment of the wholesale cash price. They suggest that the wholesale cash price as at present ascertained should be reduced by 10 per cent made up as follows:—(1) Import duty 3 1-2 per cent; (2) Trade Discount 1 1-2 per cent.; (3) Interests 1 1-2 per cent.; (4) Handling, removal and warehouse charges 1 1-2 per cent; (5) Dealers' profits 2 per cent;

This being in their opinion the added value of the goods in the bazar upon which it is inequitable that importers should have to pay duty. In other words they suggest that it would be fair to levy duty on nine-tenths of the wholesale cash price as at present ascertained. The above remarks apply to piece-goods and to goods a wholesale quantity of which is understood to mean one entire original package. In the case of sundry importation difficulties might arise over asserted packages and there might also be serious discrepancies in the matter of value. The Committee therefore support the suggestion of the Madras Chamber that one of the two following alternatives should be adopted in the case of sundries:—

(A) That in view of the relatively petty quantities and values of sundry importations and the fact that the trouble involved both to the Collector and importer to arrive at the market value of a shipment which often contains many different items is quite out of proportion to the result. The Government should rule that all goods that are usually sold by dealers in less than a whole package at a time should be assessed under Section 30 (b) with perhaps a few exceptions which would be officially notified.

(B) That Government should draw up a schedule of wholesale quantities to be submitted to all the Collectors of Customs and Chambers of Commerce for comment and that finally should publish the same as the basis for the Customs Houses and the mercantile community to work on. In conclusion I am to express the hope that the Government of India will be disposed to consider these suggestions favourably and will take such action as may be necessary to give effect to them.

RANGOON GHARRY STRIKE.

Men still Holding Out.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

RANGOON, JAN. 10.

The gharrywallas' strike still continues and rikshaws are making a good thing out of it. Mr. Bell, Superintendent of Hackney Carriages, and Inspector Wheater, interviewed the principal gharry-owners, who heard the grievances of the men. They said that some months ago sixteen animals were injected with Mallein and four suffering from decrepid glanders were released, while twelve, which were perfectly healthy, were shot. They further stated that, a few days ago the Veterinary Surgeon of the Municipality shot fourteen other healthy animals from other stables and released four old ones that were really sick. Subsequently other ponies were ticketted for injection and owners fearing these would also be shot asked the President of the Municipality to see them but, he refused and said he was no Doctor.

The President was petitioned to by another owner, who represented that his four ponies that had been bought recently from Mandalay at a great cost were shot though they were not suffering. The owner was told that they were shot because the animals were ill and were a source of danger both to man and animals and the law provided that they should be shot, no compensation being provided for under the Glanders Act, 1889. Owners have petitioned the Lieutenant-Governor.

At this afternoon's meeting of the Municipality it was resolved to pay compensation to the extent of two-thirds of the value each pony shot under the Act.

THE REVOLT AT MACAO.

A Hongkong correspondent, writing on December 3, says:—The Lisbon revolution has been repeated on a small scale at Macao this week. On Wednesday afternoon, a boat-load of men from the gunboat Patria come ashore fully armed, and on three shots being fired in the neighbourhood of the Santa Clara Convent, armed soldiers from the barracks trooped down to the Praya, and under the command of a sergeant, a body of about a hundred armed men marched to Government House, which they surrounded, and demanded an interview with the Governor (Captain Marques.) After some parleying a deputation of four men was admitted to the Governor's office, and proceeded to lay down the men's demands. In the first instance they required that a free pardon should be granted to the men who were participating in this revolt. The Governor was entirely at their mercy, and gave the promise demanded. Then the objects of this demonstration were explained. They demanded (1) immediate compliance with the decree published at Lisbon for the expulsion of all religious orders from Portuguese territory and (2) that the troops (who are paid in Portuguese currency) should receive their pay at a better rate of exchange, the official rate being so much higher than the market rate as to create intense dissatisfaction, and (3) the suppression of the newspaper "Vida Nova" which has advocated the retention of the religious orders in the Colony.

While the interview was in progress great excitement prevailed in the streets. Chinese were closing their shops and many, fearing that the soldiers would use their arms took advantage of whatever opportunity presented itself to leave the city. The long duration of the parley with the Governor made the troops surrounding the Palace impatient, and some attempt seems to have been started to rush the palace, but better counsels prevailed and presently the deputation emerged with the Governor's written promises that he would take the necessary steps to meet all the demands presented by the troops.

An order for the suppression of the newspaper was issued forthwith and His Excellency appears to have telegraphed to the Lisbon Government in terms approved by the deputation for instructions for the expulsion of all the religious orders and also to pay the troops at a better exchange. His Excellency showed the deputation the instructions he had received from Lisbon, in order to satisfy them that he had done so far all that the Home Government had directed him to do. He had expelled the Jesuits from the Colony, but he had received no definite instructions for the expulsion of the nuns.

Having intimidated the Governor into acquiescence in all their demands, the troops returned quietly to their quarters. On their behalf telegrams were sent to the authorities at Lisbon explaining their action, and I understand that the reply was sent, not through the Governor, or commanding officer, but to the men's appointed representative.

Captain Marques, of course, telegraphed his resignation, which the Home Government accepted at once and telegraphed to Dr. Vidal, the Chief Justice, calling upon his patriotism in the interests of his country to fill the post of Governor "pro tem." Dr. Vidal acquiesced with great reluctance and it is reported that he has telegraphed a request to be relieved at the earliest possible moment. According to current report Dr. Vidal's first step was to call together the commanding officers and to ask them whether they could guarantee the obedience of the troops under their command. The replies, it is stated, were not entirely satisfactory, but after some further investigation the Acting Governor, in view of the exodus of inhabitants from fear of further developments, issued a notice stating that these fears had no substantial foundation. He had pleasure in saying that public order could be absolutely guaranteed and that he relied on the traditional patriotism and discipline of the forces, and their attachment to the Republic to maintain it.

Governor Marques handed over the reins of office to Dr. Vidal on the morning following the disturbance, and came on the Hongkong by the first steamer on the following day. He is leaving for Europe by the French mail steamer on Tuesday.

On the arrival of Captain and Lady Marques in Hongkong, H. E. the Governor sent his A. D. C. to wait on them to convey an expression of sympathy and to place the hospitality of Government House at their disposal. They decided, however, to stay at the Hongkong Hotel, until their departure for Europe.

The news of the revolt created a good deal of excitement in Hongkong, as many British and Portuguese children from the Colony were in the convent schools at Macao. As soon as the object of the revolt was known the children were removed. Mr. Farmer, of the Macao Hotel took charge of a number of British children and hoisted the British flag over his premises. Many of the Sisters took the earliest steamer for Hongkong and brought with them a number of childrens, whose parents or friends reside in distant ports. No violence was done to anyone, though many of the nuns complain of the insulting and obscene language used by the soldiers and sailors towards them, and some state that threats of violence were uttered by soldiers.

Now comes the news that soldiers have taken over the orphanage run by the Italian sisters, where the blind, the halt and the lame are cared for, as well as a large number of waifs and strays. "Tears gushed from the eyes of the soldiers" we read, and all their solicitation some of the Italian sisters remain to carry on the good work, but the French Sisters are taboo and will, on no account, be allowed to return. The nuns who remain, however, are required to change their garb for ordinary civil dress, the explanation of the discrimination between French and Italian, I understand, is that some time ago the child of a prominent Republican in the Colony was expelled from the French convent school, and I gather that this revolt of the troops this week was the outcome of this incident.

The British gunboats—the Robin and Sandpiper—are now at Macao, and it is understood that Chinese gunboats fitted with wireless telegraphy have been in the vicinity watching developments.

A Chinese "express" he has been circulated in Hongkong stating that "the Chinese Fleet is on its way to Macao." Chinese troops are reported to the assembling conveniently near to Macao, and a repetition of the events of the past week, it is feared, would bring them into the Colony.

It may be mentioned that only about a hundred soldiers and sailors, out of a total of between six and seven hundred took part in the revolt, but it is said that the entire force, with the exception, perhaps, of the officers, would have joined in the demonstration had events shown that the small force was insufficient to intimidate the Governor. The Captain of the gunboat Patria has resigned his commission, to express his sense of shame at the conduct of the men under his command.

BOMBAY HIGH COURT.

CONSPIRACY IN KHANDESH.

Charge against Talati.

On the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice L. P. Russell and the Hon'ble Justice Sir Narayan G. Chandavarkar, heard the appeal of Moro Keshev Pethe, who was convicted under Section 121A of the Indian Penal Code and sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment by Mr. F. J. Warley, Sessions Judge of Khandesh.

Mr. P. B. Shingne appeared for the accused; the Government Pleader, Mr. G. S. Rao, was for the Crown.

The accused in this case was tried on charges under Sections 121, 121 A, 122, 123, 124A and 507 of the Indian Penal Code. These offences were said to be evidenced by certain letters written by the accused and by the finding of some percussion caps in his house at Guhagar, when it was searched by the police.

It appeared from the learned Sessions Judge's judgment that the accused was a talati in the Ratnagiri district and a resident of Guhagar. The Deputy Superintendent of Police, East Khandesh, got an order to watch the correspondence of Oak and Tilak (whose case has been already reported) at Chaligaon. Of the letters forwarded by the Postmaster at Chaligaon, one was dated 7th March, and addressed to Haribhau Tilak at Chaligaon and was posted at Guhagar on the 9th March purporting to come from the accused. The accused was then arrested and his house was searched by the police. While he was in custody, a letter, dated 21st or 28th February, was delivered to him by the Dead Letter Office and was addressed to one Barve at Nasik and purported to come from the accused.

After reviewing the evidence, the Sessions Judge held that these were in the handwriting of the accused. The letters contained references to secret agitation and many persons joining the society. In one of the letters it was stated that "Some six more persons had offered to further the cause of the country like him, the conspiracy had progressed and was ready to fall danger. They must revenge on the present Collector of Nasik." This language, his honour held, referred in clear terms to a conspiracy to overawe by means of criminal force; the Government and the accused was certainly implicated in that conspiracy. He, therefore, convicted the accused of an offence punishable under Section 121A and as there was no evidence that the conspiracy progressed beyond the stage of making preparations, the accused was sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment.

Against this decision the accused appealed.

After hearing the arguments, their Lordships took time to consider their judgment.

CHURCH-GATE STREET PROPERTY.

Appeal Dismissed with Costs.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor heard an appeal from a division of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman, who had dismissed the Advocate-General's suit brought at the instance of Sir Cowasji Jehangir Bart. and Mr. Sorabji Dadabhoy Dubash against Haji Ismail Hasham.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General, Mr. T. J. Strangman, the Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Setalwad and Mr. Vicaji F. Taraporewalla, instructed by Messrs. Wadia, Ghandhy and Company, appeared for the plaintiff-appellant; Mr. J. D. Inverarity, Mr. E. B. Raikes and Mr. G. R. Lowndes, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Company, were for the defendant-respondent.

The defendant is the owner of the spacious building recently built abutting on the west on Hornby Road and on the south on the Church-gate Street. The height of the building, according to the plaint, was regulated by Section 349 (a) and 349 (b) of the Municipal Act and the plaintiff submitted under these sections the portions of the building, which abutted on the Church-gate Street beyond the distance of 80 feet from Hornby Road, could not be raised to a greater height than 47 feet 9 inches, which was the width of the Church-gate Street.

The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman, who heard this suit, in course of his judgment, said that Dubash, one of the relators in this suit, owned a house to the east of the defendant's house and for a very long time he had been taking exception to the proposed elevation of the building. It was clear that his grievance was that his windows on the west face of his house would be obstructed by the eastern wall of the defendant's house, should it be raised to the height of 70 feet. It was also clear that this was a purely personal matter between Dubash and Haji Ismail, for the east and west faces of their houses respectively did not abut upon any public street, but were divided by a narrow gully in which the public had no interest. The evidence showed that Dubash contemplated suing the defendant for the protection of his ancient lights, but he abandoned the idea, probably because those lights were not ancient. He then associated himself with Sir Cowasji, the other relator on the record, and put the Advocate-General in motion and the suit was brought under Section 91 of the New Civil Procedure Code, asking for a mandatory injunction against the defendant ordering him to pull down so much of his building as exceeded the height of 49 feet roughly for a length of 24 feet, on the ground that it was a public nuisance. The building had been virtually completed to the height of 70 feet over the disputed portion. The plaintiff's contention was that Section 349 (b) was in all its terms imperative and that the Municipal Commissioner had in no circumstances the power to sanction the elevation of a building in height beyond the corresponding width of the street facing it. The defendant, on the other hand, contended that the whole of Section 349 (b) was subject to Section 349 (a) and that in any proper case the Commissioner had a discretion to permit the buildings to exceed in height. His Lordship held that the Commissioner had power, but, assuming that he was wrong he proceeded to consider whether this was a case within the purview and intention of Section 91 of the New Civil Procedure Code and his Lordship held that this was not a proper case for granting a mandatory injunction and dismissed it with all costs.

Against this decision the plaintiff appealed.

After hearing the arguments of counsel, their Lordships dismissed the appeal with costs against the relators and varied the decree of the lower court to the extent that the defendant's costs should be borne by the relators and not by the Advocate-General.

SUIT AGAINST HYDERALLY CASSUMJI.

A Heavy Claim.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Honble Mr. Justice Dinshaw Davar disposed of the suit brought by Mr. Shapurji B. Broacha against the firm of Hyderally Cassumji to recover Rs. 69,750 with interest and costs.

Mr. J. D. Inverarity, instructed by Messrs. Thakurdass and Company, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. J. B. Kanga, instructed by Messrs. Jehangir, Mehta and Somji, was for Taherally Esufally and Esufally Salebhoy, two of the partners of the firm, Heptullia Esufally and Abdul Hussein Abdul Karim; the other two did not appear.

Mr. Kanga admitted the claim and said it was agreed between the parties that the shares deposited with the plaintiff should not be sold if the claim was satisfied within six months.

Mr. Broacha, in his evidence, stated that on the 27th September, 1909, he had advanced to the defendants the sum of Rs. 69,750 on a promissory note at 7 1-2 per cent. interest on the security of 155 shares of the Queen's Mills. The present value of the shares was nil and he was entitled to a margin.

His Lordship passed a decree for Rs. 69,750 with interest and costs. The plaintiff was at liberty to sell the 155 shares of the Queen Mills and appropriate the sale proceeds to part satisfaction of his claim in default of payment within six months. In the meanwhile, the plaintiff was given leave to execute his decree against any other property of the defendants.

BANKS IN DISPUTE.

Alleged Forged Draft.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor heard an appeal from a decision of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Russell who had dismissed the plaintiffs' suit with costs in the suit brought by the Punjab National Bank Ld. against the Mercantile Bank of India Ld.

Mr. J. D. Inverarity and Mr. E. B. Raikes, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Company, appeared for the appellants; the Advocate-General and Mr. G. R. Lowndes, instructed by Messrs. Crawford, Brown and Company, were for the respondents.

The plaintiffs were a banking company carrying on business with their head office in Lahore and branches at Amritsar and Multan and other places. The defendants were a bank with their head office in England with branches in Bombay and other places. About 1st November, 1904, a current account was opened in the defendants' books at Bombay with the plaintiffs and it was agreed inter alia that the plaintiffs and their branches should draw upon the account which had been transferred to the defendants' bank from the Chartered Bank in Bombay. In October, 1905, the defendants in Bombay honoured a draft of Rs. 10,000 which had been made payable to bearer by paying that amount to the person who presented it and who purported to acknowledge the receipt thereof on the back of the draft, namely, one Lala Nihalchand. The plaintiffs alleged that the moneys paid by the defendant were on a forged draft.

Mr. Justice Russell, who heard the suit, said that he was not satisfied that the signature of Madho Ram, who was entitled to sign on behalf of the plaintiffs, was a forgery, and the conclusion his Lordship came to was that the draft had been signed in blank by Madho Ram and used by the forgers for the purpose for which it was used; his Lordship accordingly dismissed the suit with costs.

Against this decision the plaintiffs filed an appeal the arguments in which are proceeding.

SPECIE BANK'S CLAIM.

Ahmedabad Mill Sued.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, yesterday, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Dinshaw Davar disposed of the suit brought by the Indian Specie Bank, Limited, against The Ahmedabad Merchants Spinning Mills Company, Limited, and others, to recover from the first two defendants the sum of Rs. 1,00,500 with interest and costs.

Mr. M. A. Jinnah, instructed by Messrs. Daftary, Ferreira and Dewan, appeared for the plaintiff-bank. Mr. J. D. Inverarity, instructed by Messrs. Craigie, Blunt and Caroe, appeared for the Bank of India, Bank of Baroda and the Guzerat Bank who jointly held a puisne mortgage.

It appeared that in consideration of the Bank having advanced a lakh of Rupees to the mills, they were given an equitable mortgage of the mill. No interest or part of the principal was yet paid.

His Lordship passed a decree for the amount claimed with interest and costs against the first two defendants. In default of payment within six months the plaintiff was given liberty to apply for a decree absolute for sale. The other three defendants were given liberty to redeem the plaintiffs within six months. If there be any surplus sale proceeds, the same would have to remain in Court until further orders; in case of a deficit the plaintiffs to be at liberty to apply for a personal decree against the first two defendants.

SUIT FOR PARTITION.

Appeal Dismissed.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Batchelor disposed of an appeal from a decision of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman, who had passed a decree for the plaintiff and defendants Nos. 4 to 7 in the suit, brought by Moosa Adam Patel against Esmail Moosa and others.

Mr. M. R. Jardine, Mr. M. A. Jinnah and Mr. R. D. N. Wadia, instructed by Messrs. Kanga and Sayani, appeared for the appellant; Mr. Mirza and Mr. Khan, instructed by Messrs. Mirza and Mirza, were for the plaintiff-respondent; Mr. Jafferbhoy and Mr. Desai, instructed by Messrs. Tyebji, Dayabhai and Company, were for the second respondent.

The facts of this appeal have already been reported.

After hearing the arguments of counsel, their Lordships dismissed the appeal with costs.

CONVICTION AND SENTENCE CONFIRMED.

On the Appellate Side of the Bombay High Court the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Russell and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sir Narayan G. Chandavarkar have disposed of the appeal of Tukaram Appa who was convicted of culpable homicide not amounting to murder and sentenced to transportation for life by Mr. P. E. Percival, Sessions Judge of Satara.

It appeared that there was a dispute between the accused and the deceased Luxmon Naru about a cow. With the aid of some of his friends, he caused severe injuries to the deceased. The accused had made a confession before a First-Class Magistrate. Upon that and upon independent evidence, Mr. Percival convicted him and sentenced him as above stated.

Their Lordships dismissed the appeal.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Superintendent Flanagan charged Sheriar Curseji Hiramaneck, a motor-car driver, with having caused the death of a Parsi merchant, named Ratanji Nanabhoy Boyce, by doing a rash and negligent act not amounting to culpable homicide on the 9th instant. Messrs. Vicaji F. Vicaji and K. F. Nariman, pleaders, appeared to watch the case on behalf of the deceased's relations. Mr. C. N. Kanuga, pleader, defended the accused. Superintendent Flanagan asked for a week's remand in order to enable him to instruct the Public Instructor in the matter. His Worship granted the application, and adjourned the case to the 19th instant. His Worship ordered the accused to be released on a bail of Rs. 500.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

YESTERDAY, at the Mazagon Police Court, Mr. P. H. Dastur, Second Presidency Magistrate, disposed of a case in which Fakirmahomed Alisaheb, a Mahomedan, was charged with burglary and theft of gold and silver ornaments of the value of Rs. 2-936, belonging to one Babu Nandan Inder, a dealer in Indian perfumes at Bhendi Bazaar. It appeared from evidence that on the 1st November last, the complainant and his wife went out after having locked the doors of their room. On their return home, they noticed the doors open. On entering the room, the complainant found his trunks forced open and the ornaments missing. The matter was reported to the police, who arrested the accused and succeeded in recovering the property valued at Rs. 1,158 from different persons, to whom the accused had sold it. The accused pleaded guilty. He was convicted and as he was an old offender he was sentenced to undergo one year's rigorous imprisonment and to pay a fine of Rs. 100, or in default, to undergo six months' further rigorous imprisonment.

Inspector Stenson then charged the accused with house-breaking and theft of ornaments and wearing apparel valued at Rs. 38, belonging to a woman named Bhagibai. The accused pleaded guilty and was sentenced to undergo six months' rigorous imprisonment.

The accused was further charged with house-breaking by night and the theft of clothes valued at Rs. 506, belonging to one Behramji Dhanjibhoy, contractor, residing at Grant Road. The accused was convicted and sentenced to eighteen months' rigorous imprisonment, two months, out of which, were to be solitary confinement. Another accused, named Kalekhan Mahomed Khan, who was charged along with Fakirmahomed in this case, was also convicted and was sentenced to undergo nine months' rigorous imprisonment, one month out of which, was to be solitary confinement.

SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT A LICENSE.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Mr. Kuverji Darasha, Excise Inspector, charged Parvatibai, a Hindu woman, with selling country liquor without a license from the Collector of Customs. Mr. Wadia, pleader, defended the accused. The case for the prosecution was that during the Mohurrum holidays from the 7th to the 13th instant, all liquor shops were ordered to be closed. On Monday night, Mr. Kuverji Darasha went to Bhandari Street and gave some marked coins to a customer, named Makan Balu, to purchase country liquor from the accused. On receiving a signal, the Inspector with other officers raided the accused's place and found one bottle containing two drams of country liquor with the customer. On searching the accused's room, two more bottles containing country liquor, and the marked coins were found there. The accused pleaded guilty. The accused was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 20.

OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT.

Captain Yule, Magistrate Residency Bazar, Hyderabad, resumed the further hearing of the case in which Semasundrum and Zakusala stand charged under Secs. 116 and 161, with conspiring to bribe Mr. E. Edwards, a Residency clerk, by promising to pay Rs. 100. Semasundrum is further charged under the Official Secrets Act. The Judge conducted the prosecution and Mr. Kazi Kabiruddin, Barrister, with Mr. Krishnamachari defended the accused.

Mr. Hosley, in cross-examination, stated that Mr. Edwards was the only confidential clerk. The key of the confidential records remained with the witness. Mr. Edwards first informed him of being tampered with on 25th Oct. last. This report was verbal. Witness asked him to submit it in writing, which was done on the 26th. Mr. Edwards saw him in connection with that matter every day till 31st, except holidays. On 27th and 28th, except three documents, former copies, and daily reports, Edwards showed him no other papers. On 29th a letter written by one of the accused was also shown. Witness told Edwards on the 26th and emphasised it on 29th or 30th that he should not encourage these men and let them take the initiative. witness did not suggest to Edwards that these people should be brought to office, but Edwards suggested it and witness told him not to do so on the 28th. Edwards again brought that matter on Sunday morning, and witness again told him not to do so. Edwards never told him that he was going to bring these men to the office, neither he asked for the loan of the file to be shown to them. Witness had informed Supdt. Crawford, of Edwards' conversation on 25th, and made general arrangement with him by which any one entering the Residency Office might be caught. Actual details of this arrangement were settled finally on Saturday, though he did not know for certain that accused or any one else was coming. Edwards was not present, but witness had written to him on Sunday, giving him the definite arrangement with Mr. Crawford. He had no information and knew absolutely nothing of the accused coming to the office till he saw Edwards come to the verandah.

Mr. Edwards could take out the required file from the cupboard in his room, take it to his own next door and return it when done with. He could keep the file, all day if he like. On Friday, witness took out the old file from the current one and had them put back in the cupboard. Witness gave the key of the cupboard to Edward on Friday, as Saturday was a holiday. It was purposely given to enable Edwards to show the papers to any one who came on Monday. Though office was closed on holidays, witness gave special instructions to Edwards on Friday, to open office on Monday (Diwali holiday,) for giving copies. If he had not given the key, Edwards would not have opened the almira. The paper that was being copied was from the old file. He did not inform Mr. Edwards on the 25th, that an attempt would be made on 31st to obtain copies Ex E, similarly ex Fde not exist in our files.

Defence asked the witness to produce reports made by him between the 25th and 31st. The Magistrate over-ruled the stating that he failed to see how they were relevant. If they were relevant, prosecution would have produced them.

Witness further stated that he did ask Edwards to go to office on Monday, to arrange the confidential files, you may call it an order if you like. This confidential file was not being dealt with at the end of October, but a non-confidential letter relating to Nawab's claim was received and witness brought it on this file when he heard that Edwards was being got at. Witness made that non-confidential file confidential about 26th or 27th October. He could not say if 1885 file contained a specific claim against H. H. the Nizam's Govt. Edwards did not tell him that he had accepted the bribe. Witness told him not to accept it. Witness did not tell Edwards to ask Pillai to bring a note of Rs. 100 when coming to office. He did tell Edwards to tell Pillai that if he brought Rs. 100 note he could get copies of what he wanted. It was an stipulation and an inducement. He told Edwards to give an impression that he would accept Rs. 100. To the best of his belief it was Mr. Crawford, who suggested laying a trap and catching the culprits. Mr. Edwards was not to make or give copies himself, nor to offer proposals that they should come to office and do the work themselves. In re-examination, the witness said the First Assistant Resident was the only officer who gave copies of confidential papers.

FAMINE IN NORTHERN KIANGSU.

DR. PATTERSON of Sutsien, has communicated the following facts in regard to the famine, which extends through the northern part of Anhui Province and also of Kiangsu Province:—

We are convinced that many people will certainly die from malnutrition yet the extent of the need and the way it is scattered over patches of low land make the problem very complex. The high ground had good harvests. There are said to be 20,000 refugees coming back up the Canal. Many of these are simply going back again by the back door. Those who have absolutely no hope at home have gone away. Many families have sent away some of the members so as to lessen the drain on the food supply. A great many families whom I know are eating only gruel even now. The people who saw that we gave help in 1907 are obsequious, showing that they hope for help. One sees some undoubted cases of famine pallor. The deaths that have occurred, are of course, those of the poor and sick, who have only succumbed the sooner. One particularly pitiful case occurred here the other day. A poor man realized that his end was near, and begged for a mat to be buried in; then dragged himself toward the burying ground as far as he could and lay down to die with his face to the ground, hugging his mat.

The refugees, especially the little children, suffer extremely this cold weather. They are provided only with a couple of mats and their clothing is insufficient. The little crying tots stringing down the trail behind their mothers, with their little legs trembling as they walk, is enough to melt the heart of the most hardened. We at Sutsien would like to know how the Committee proposes to work: whence it is expected to request subscriptions, and how it is proposed to distribute help—whether by relief works, free gifts, or what other methods may be adopted. We would also like to know whether arrangements are to be made to import grain. We are much interested in this matter, and while we all read the work like a nightmare—the most of us having had experience with two famines, 1898 or 1907, yet we feel that foreign help would certainly lessen the death-roll. None of us think that gratuitous distribution is ideal, yet there are grave difficulties in some of the proper forms of relief, such as colonization and drainage. I am writing this letter after consultation with my three colleagues.

A first edition copy of Miton's "Paradise Regained" has sold for £15 10s. at Sotheby's London.

DEATH OF MAJOR HOSKYN.

We regret to announce the death yesterday afternoon of Major Charles Reginald Hoskyn, of the Royal Engineers (retired), Chief Auditor and Accountant, B. B. and C. I. Railway. On Saturday, Major Hoskyn first felt indisposed and left office going to his chambers at the Yacht Club, Bombay, where, the next day, he felt the better for his rest. On Monday morning, Major Hoskyn suddenly become seriously ill, so that medical attendance was necessitated. This, however, was unavailing, and Major Hoskyn died shortly before one o'clock. His death has caused a great shock both in the offices of the B. B. and C. I. Railway and amongst his numerous friends in Bombay, where he was well-known, and amongst whom he was very popular. His connection with the Railway Company, in which he served, dated from April 1900. Previous to this date he was Government Examiner, Railway Accounts, and had held Commission in the Royal Engineers, from which service he retired to take up his last appointment. His death at the age of 57 years is deeply regretted by his brother officers and as a mark of respect to his memory, the offices of the B.B. and C.I. Railway were closed yesterday afternoon, when the sad news was received. They will also be closed to-morrow. The funeral will take place this morning at 8 o'clock. The deceased leaves a widow and large family to mourn his loss, and much sympathy will be felt for them in their bereavement. One of his sons holds a Commission in the R. G. A., and is at present stationed at Woolwich, while another is practising at home in the medical profession.

FESTIVAL OF EMPIRE.

Imperial Exhibition.

ARRANGEMENTS had nearly been completed in May last for the opening ceremony of the Festival of Empire which included an Indian Court section, at which His Majesty, King Edward VII., Emperor of India, and Queen Alexandra, together with our present King and Queen, had graciously promised to be present.

The Council at once immediately decided, on the demise of His late Majesty, that the Festival of Empire must be postponed until the year of the Coronation of His Majesty King George V., when it could take place under the happiest auspices, and should be of increased use and value.

It was also decided that the scope of the Festival should be enlarged, especially as regards its visual instructions in the various aspects and industries of the Overseas dominions and of the Indian Empire. It was resolved that the Indian section should be extended in order to encourage a strong and friendly interest in the country and our fellow-subjects there. This, it was thought, could be best done by dividing the work into the four following branches:—

1. The History of India and its inhabitants from the earliest times.
2. The Daily Life of the people.
3. The Art of India.
4. Progress of the country under British Rule, and particularly since 1858, to include Industrial and Commercial Exhibits.

The various classes and sub-classes are enumerated in the accompanying schedule.

The Indian Committee earnestly commend this scheme to all well-wishers of India, and invite them to offer to lend such objects as they may think likely to interest and attract the public. Great care will be taken of loans entrusted to them for Exhibition; they will be insured against all possible risks in transit and during the course of the Exhibition, which will be held from May to October and will be returned as soon as possible after the Festival is over. Expense of transit both ways, and packing, if required, will be paid by the Committee. Loans will be exhibited in a substantial, isolated building in the grounds of the Crystal Palace.

The objects are not required until March but the Committee will be glad to receive applications for forms in which full discriptions of the various objects should be given. These should show the size and special points of interest of the articles so that the catalogue may be prepared, and it may be decided which of them can be accepted in order that duplicates may not be taken and that everything may be properly and safely shewn.

In conclusion, attention is drawn to the following points:—Plans and details as to the Festival of Empire in 1911 have been submitted to His Majesty the King, who has been graciously pleased to express his interest in them.

The official patronage of His Majesty's Government has been given to the whole undertaking. The Prime Minister, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Earl of Crewe (as Secretary of State for the Coonlies), the Ex-Prime Minister, the present Viceroy of India, and the Earl of Minto and the Governor of all the Overseas Dominions have accepted the position of Vice-Presidents.

THE LADIES' CORNER.

VOTARIES OF SKATING.

Perhaps some explanation of the vogue for skating this winter, writes a home correspondent, may be found in the fact that there are no dances going on at present, nor, indeed, have there been any worth recording for many months past, if we except one or two quite small ones given for young married people; society women nowadays must have amusements that entail healthful exercise, and there is no doubt that it is due to this sensible fashion that they owe the youthful appearance and lissome figure which they manage to retain until they are well on in years. At any rate, both Prince's Ice Skating Rink and the Olympia Sunday Roller Skating Club are the resorts for Saturday and Sunday afternoons respectively. At the former were to be seen on Saturday afternoon Countess Zia and Countess Nada Torby, who were both being instructed in the art of fancy ice-skating, Mrs. Godfrey Baring, and Miss Lawley.

THE SUNDAY SKATING CLUB.

At Olympia, on Sunday in mail week a larger crowd even than usual had assembled, both among the onlookers and among the participants in the sport. Again, as at Prince's Rink on the previous day, the two young daughters of the Grand Duke Michael and Countess Torby were early on the scene, and were joined later by their father. The Grand Duke Michael and Countess Torby are to be vice-presidents of the club, which to a great extent owes its popularity to the fact that the season lasts so short a time that society people have not time to weary of it.

IN THE PRESIDENT'S BOX.

Prince Arthur of Connaught was an interested spectator; Lady Mar and Kellie, who came in with several friends, was wearing a wonderful coat of bottle green velvet, with a deep hem of gold embroidery edged with skunk and fastened down the front with three large green jewelled clasps; Lady de Trafford, in black velvet, brought with her young daughter, who is "coming out" next season; Miss Talbot, who afterwards joined the skaters, and Lady Evelyn Collins were all in Lord Crichton's box.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS.

Lord and Lady Northbrook and the Dowager Lady Hastings came in together, bringing with them Miss Myrtle Abercromby and Miss Rhoda Astley; Lord Vivian brought his fiancee, Mrs. Adrian Rose, who wore a coat and skirt of pale grey cloth, and a large "Mushroom" hat to match, and both joined Lady Vivian, with whom had come earlier, Miss Alexandra Vivian, also in pale grey, and Lord Worsley. Lady Eileen Butler was being chaperoned by her mother, Lady Lanesborough; Lord and Lady Powerscourt were together, Mrs. Hall Walker wearing black velvet with pink flowers on a large black hat, was looking on as also were Lady Florence Duncombe, Lady Cynthia Graham, Lady Evelyn Farquhar, Lady Celia Coats, Lord Craven, Captain and Mrs Quintin Dick, Princess Alexis Dolgorouki, who afterwards went on to Prince's for tea, Lady Smiley with whom came Lady Garvagh, Mrs. Carr, Lady Aline Barnett, Lady Katharine Le Poer Trench, General Bingham, Mr. William Gillett, Mrs. Ansell, and Mrs. Holdsworth.

GIRL SKATERS.

Many more young girls were to be seen skating than on previous occasions. Miss Cecil Heneage and Miss Gladys Gore, who were together, were brought by Admiral Sir Algernon Heneage; Miss Norah McGarel-Hogg, in deep violet velvet, came with her mother, Lady Evelyn Baring, who wore a large white velvet choux on her black hat; Miss Daisy Combe, Lady Constance Combe's daughter, and Miss Lilah O'Brien were, like Miss Sylvia Grenfell, wearing black velvet. Lady Helen Grosvenor was in sapphire blue velvet, and Lady Cicely Browne, Miss de Trafford, and Miss Enid Asheton Smith were seldom off their skates.

BOOKS AND BOOKMEN.

BIOGRAPHICAL WORKS.

If "works of a biographical nature" are, as Mr. Gosse assured his hearers recently growing in popularity there must be reasons for that fact, and one of the more obvious reasons is that such works are almost the only ones at the present day in which history is to be had in a readable form. The public must have history, and when they turn to the historians proper they find that they are not writing for the general public but for one another, or, alternatively, for some hypothetical man of genius who is to arise in the future, utillise the material they have amassed, and by his gift of imagination revivify it and once more bring back history into the realms of literature. They aim less than formerly at general ideas, and as it is general ideas that determine the scale of importance of facts their paragraphs are often packed with facts important and unimportant, so that your average pleasure-hunting reader would undertake the perusal of one of their books only as a Lenten penance. On the other hand, the biographical works in question, whatever their faults may be, are readable. They may be machine-made; the writer of them may have no grasp at all of the character of the person whose career he is setting forth; he may be in the way of leaving out what is important in order to retain what is merely interesting and of preferring the more sensational version of an incident to one which although milder is more probable, still he can hold his reader's attention, and that reason alone does something to account for his popularity.

MORE POPULAR THAN FICTION.

Are those biographies, as is said, becoming more popular than fiction? It is very doubtful. Yet if they are not it is not because they do not from time to time make incursions into the domain of the novel. There are writers of to-day who are not content merely to weave into a plain narrative anew the body of facts scattered though many ancient records. They aim higher, and, allowing their imagination to play upon their data, seek to impart to their story some of the vividness of romance. They invent incidents create situations, and carry forward their story on dialogues that never took place. All this is "lese-majeste" against the muse Clio, and works executed in this spirit seldom avoid the fault of being too romantic to be history and too historic to be pure romance, but, again, they are readable, and when a reader finds that a work with some pretensions to be history can be mastered as easily as a work of fiction he is charmed to combine pleasure with the illusion of "serious reading."

"THE PIPES OF FAUNS."

There is so little to appeal to the imagination in the sight of a chimney-stack that readers have been pleased with Verlaine's conceit that the blown smoke was like the light horizontal line that tips the figure 5. Those who are reading the contributions of the "German Student" would notice that he made a more beautiful remark upon the same homely subject when he observed of chimneys that they were "things which have near relations to the pipes of fauns." It is a pretty fancy, and is quite evidently spontaneous on the part of that writer, yet it is not absolutely new. Thus a decade or so ago an anonymous contributor to a literary weekly paper, describing a stormy day in spring, wrote "Sudden gusts cast the rain rattling like handfuls of wedding rice upon the window-pane, and the rows of chimney-pots, ranged like the pipes along which Pan passes his lips, boom like no mean set of fog-horns." No doubt this writer, despite the sudden transition from flutes to fog-horns, thought he had brought his simile somewhat daintily off, but even he was not first in the field. In the second series of his "Fleet-street Eclogues" John Davidson, in 1896, had written—

> Nay, twilight silvers the flashing drops;
> And a whiter fall is behind,
> And the wild east mouths the chimney-tops,
> The Pandean pipes of the wind.

Twenty years, however, before that date Henley had written one of his "Essays" beginning

> To me at my fifth-floor window
> The chimney-pots in rows,
> Are sets of pipes Pandean
> For every wind that blows.

A THEOLOGICAL WRITER.

Dr. Alexander, whose impending resignation of the Archbishopric of Armagh is announced this week, has been well known as a theological writer, and his stately English with its "vividness and natural splendour" has found a welcome with people who are chilled with the lean, grey prose of the ordinary pulpit moralist and repelled by the forced picturesqueness of that bane of all the pulpits the would-be "poetpreacher." Few, however, remember that he had a career as a poet. It began at Oxford. In 1853, on the occasion of the instalment of Lord Derby, as Chancellor of the University, he recited in the Sheldonian Theatre, a set of verses which show that already he had developed a gift of rhythm and picturesque speech and acquired the mastery of a just and delicate instrument. Later he won the prize for the best poem on a religious subject his title being "The Waters of Babylon." In 1857, he had been awarded an accessit in a similar competition for a poem on the "Death of Jacob," two stanzas of which may be quoted as exhibiting his workmanship at its best and as indicating what master in poetry he then served:—

> Not where the Pharaohs lie, with incense breath'd
> Round awful galleries, grim with shapes of wrath,
> Hawk-headed, vulture-pinioned, serpent-wreathed
> Hued like an Indian moth—
> But lay him where from forest or green slope
> Te Mamre's cave, the low wind breatheth balm,
> Chanteth a litany of immortal hope
> Singeth a funeral psalm.

RELIGIOUS POETRY.

All those poems, while to a certain extent reminiscent, as the work of a young poet will be, are such as to leave little wonder that their author set himself seriously to consider whether religious poetry was not his vocation. "There was for myself," he wrote in 1885, "a time, very long ago, when I was near believing that I had a call to consecrate myself to the sacred muse, that I might possibly become one of the brethren who prophesy with harps and are instructed in the songs of the Lord." Accordingly he continued to contribute verse to various weekly and monthly periodicals until the call to the see of Londonderry came. He then collected his scattered works in his volume "St. Augustine's Holiday," which still can be read with pleasure by those whose ears are not weary of the mid-Victorian note. No one will claim for that book that it is monumental, but it hardly got its due from the public, and preachers, who are often poor judges of verse—witness Liddon's passion for the "Baptistery" and the flat couplets with which Farrar sprinkled his pages,—might even yet do worse than turn to its pages in search of illustrative matter and for thoughts expressed in a language which for harmony a certain splendour carries them to the borderland of true poetry.

"THE WOMAN DEBORAH."

It was no easy task to take the Shulamite from her setting in the great spaces of South Africa and transport her to the Savoy Hotel. She was a primitive woman, requiring primitive expanse for a background. In the Shulamite Alice and Claude Askew created a figure which possessed itself of our imagination, and the impression was intensified by those who saw Miss Lena Ashwell in the part. She realised the authors' ideal. To those who have vividly appreciated "The Sulamite" it would seem that Alice and Claude Askew have conceived the sequel, "The Woman Deborah" (Eveleigh Nash, 6s.) with admirable skill, for Deborah retains most of her qualities under the new conditions in which we find her, her mystery, her strength, her silence her invincible appeal endure. She is about to be married to Adam Fielder, one of South Africa's really great men, hoping in the splendour of his career and achievements to create some interest for herself and to beat down the gnawing heartache which is the dower of her unsatisfied love for Robert Waring. To her infinite despair the cruel Fate which dogs her footsteps, foreshowing inevitable tragedy, has ordained that Robert Waring has, in a far-distant quarter of the globe, under circumstances which promised almost immediate death, allowed himself to become engaged Adam Fielder's sister. Fielder knows the life-story of the woman he loves, though not the name of the man who meant all the world to her Mary Fielder is likewise acquainted with her lover's history, and with the quick intuitions of a woman she realises almost immediately that it is Deborah who has held her love's heart in her hands. And, woman like, she also realises that her own love-story is at an end. For the love of this man and this woman was for all time. She still fights for her brother's happiness, even when she has said good-bye to her own. But its doom is sealed.

"I have long been aware of the great reputation enjoyed by the LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL introduced into medical practice by Dr. DE JONGH, and have recommended it with the utmost confidence. I have no hesitation in stating my opinion, that it possesses all the qualities of a good and efficient medicine. Its taste is by no means disagreeable, and might even be called pleasant. DR. WHITMORE, Medical Officer of Health, St. Marylebone, London.
"My own somewhat lengthened experience as a Medical Practitioner enables me with confidence to recommend Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL as being more uniform in quality, more certain in its effects, more palatable, and infinitely less likely to disagree with the stomach than the Pale Oil. If I were asked for an explanation of the marked success which for so many years has attended the administration of Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL, I should say that it is owing to its extraordinary medicinal, dietetic, and reginimal properties, and which are found to exist in no other medicine that I am acquainted with, in such uniform combination.
